GLYCO XVII Seventeenth International Symposium on Glycoconjugates

Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore, India
January 12–16, 2003

The program will comprise recent progress in all areas of glycosciences. It will include plenary lectures, invited lectures in parallel thematic sessions, and free communications presented orally in parallel sessions or as posters. Posters will be on display from Sunday through Wednesday during the symposium week. The topics of the symposium include:

1. Analytical methods in glycosciences
2. Glycans in cellular adhesion, development, and differentiation
3. Developmental and evolutionary glycobiology
4. Gene organization and expression of glycosidases, glycosyltransferases, and nucleotide sugar transporters
5. Glycobiology of pathogens and host-pathogen interactions
6. Glycochemistry/organic synthesis and enzymatic synthesis
7. Glycoconjugates, mucins, glycosaminoglycans, proteoglycans, polysaccharides: biosynthesis and turnover
8. Glycoimmunology, xenotransplantation, and neuroglycobiology
9. Glycoproteins, glycosphingolipids, domains, rafts, and signaling
10. Glycosylation, diseases, and cancer
11. Structure, conformation, and function of sugars, glycans, and sialic acids
12. GPI-anchored proteins and lipids
13. Biology of heparins, integrins, and cellular interactions
14. Glycoproteins: folding, trafficking, and quality control
15. Lectins and protein-carbohydrate and carbohydrate-carbohydrate recognition glycomics
16. Glycotechnology and glycotherapeutics
17. Glycoagrobiology
